Completely updated to reflect the many changes in the latest release of Excel. SharePoint calendars now have a similar look and feel to Outlook, and like Outlook calendars can be overlaid to give a better picture of your day. Because converters are available for older versions of Office, you can try to persuade friends and colleagues to let you send them new format files. However, the calendar is not compatible with Microsoft Outlook. Other new features include social networking tools, with support for blogs and wikis. Businesses can index and tag files or extract information from them directly, without opening them in an application.
